

LABLAW OPENS A NEW OFFICE IN NAPLES

MILAN - November 18th, 2019 | LABLAW continues to grow with an important investment in a new office in the center of Naples, Italy and a new innovative project: a center of Italian labour law counsel, integrating the national and international capabilities of LABLAW together with administrative counsel for personnel management and financial consulting services.

This innovative approach has been made possible through a strategic partnership with Italiapaghe – a specialist HR administration company and Promos Corporate Consulting – a specialist financial consulting company.

"We are not intending to stop here", explains LABLAW Partner Alessandro Paone, "we have other expansion plans in the pipeline, and among these the opportunity to offer local graduates the possibility to become part of the LABLAW team, giving them exposure to our Italian offices and international contacts – and giving back to the city professionals who have been trained in an international context."

"With the opening of this new office", confirms LABLAW Founding Partner Francesco Rotondi, "we are consolidating our path of expansion and territorial presence that LABLAW has long pursued with firm conviction. It is a path that we carry out with our style and our golden rules: offering customers technologically advanced spaces, high level legal assistance, and always aiming for service excellence and client satisfaction. The city of Naples is important for its size and the quality of the businesses and entrepreneurs that animate it. It represents a center of great interest for the firm and the choice of the new headquarters in Via dei Mille is the demonstration of the seriousness of our professional investment."

With the opening of this new office in Palazzo Spinelli located at via dei Mille n. 16 the firm now counts 100 professionals on its team.
