

LABLAW COMES OUT ON TOP AGAIN IN THE LEGALCOMMUNITY LABOUR REPORT 2019

MILAN December 2nd, 2019 | The LABLAW team has been once again recognised in the annual LegalCommunity Labour Report 2019 as one of the leading Employment & Labour Law Firms in Italy.

Their research was based on interviews and feedback from both the market and peers. LABLAW came out as one of leading recognised employment and labour law firms in Italy when the survey results came back from each category.

In addition LABLAW Founding Partner Francesco Rotondi was noted as among the top names when peers were asked to name the leaders in the Italian employment and labour law sector.

“We are extremely pleased that both the legal market (our peers) and the business community (our clients) continues to view LABLAW as one of the leading protagonists in the Italian Employment and Labour Law market”, says Founding Partner and President Luca Failla.

“Our team certainly deserves this merit especially for all of the hard work they have put in over the past 12 – 18 months travelling around the country on behalf of clients and representing them in some extremely tough negotiations at the highest levels – including with the Italian Ministries. The strength of LABLAW is anchored in its team – and,” concludes Founding Partner and Managing Director Francesco Rotondi, “what a winning team it is!”